Changes IV

Don't you feel a change a coming from another side of time, breaking down the walls of silence lifting shadows from your mind Placing back the missing mirrors that before you couldn't find filling mysteries of emptiness that yesterday left behind

And we all know it's better Yesterday has past
now let's all start the living for the one that's going to last Yes, we all know it's better yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last

Don't you feel the day is coming that will stay and remain when your children see the answers that you saw the same when the clouds have all gone there will be no more rain and the beauty of all things is uncovered again

And we all know it's better
Yesterday has past
Now let's all start the living

and it won't be too soon when the people of the world can all live in one room when we shake off the ancient shake off the ancient chains of our tomb we will all be born again of the eternal womb

And we all know it's better
Yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last

It is Monday in the teacher's room and the cold grey walls are bright,
And the principal stands there grinning, at the faces full of fright.
The faculty is meeting, before the classes start,
For exactly in five minutes, this group will all depart.
"Now hear this," he loudly chants, "for I will not repeat,
We'll institute some changes, and we hope they'll be complete.
Starting with the freshmen, and all the way up the line, We're going to teach them discipline, and that this school's a shrine."
And as he rambled on and on, the teachers' faces fell, But they broke into a big, wide grin, with the sounding of the bell.

Off the bus to the schoolhouse, and I'm filled with apprehension, Because to cut all those classes is surely my intention.
I wander to my locker, and much to my surprise,
There stares an aged apple, much reduced in size.
The time is growing shorter, I must make up my mind,
Do I want to split the scene, or shall I face the grind?
I see a kind hand beckoning, I know I've got to hustle, I'll glide right into my first class and never move a muscle.
So it's off the bus to the schoolhouse, the underclassman's woe, For like it or not dear children, to the schoolhouse you must go.
